Africa Climate Week 2022, Gabon, 29 August to 1 September, 2022

<https://unfccc.int/ACW2022>

Africa Climate Week 2022 is a step on the road to COP27 in Egypt. Last year, regional collaboration emerged as a driver of global progress. The Glasgow Climate Pact agreed at COP26 recognizes Regional Climate Weeks as a platform for governments and stakeholders to strengthen credible and durable response to climate change. ACW 2022 will be held from 29 August to 1 September in Gabon. ACW 2022 is a collaboration platform to explore: resilience against climate risks, the transition to a low-emission economy, and partnerships to solve pressing challenges. The event is organized by UN Climate Change in collaboration with global partners UN Development Programme, UN Environment Programme and the World Bank Group. Partners in the region include the Africa Union, the Africa Development Bank (AfDB) and the UN Economic Commission for Africa (UNECA).

COP 27, Sharm El-Sheikh, Egypt, 7-18 November 2022

The 27th session of the Conference of the Parties (COP 27) to the UNFCCC will take place in Sharm El-Sheikh, Egypt from 7-18 November 2022. Today more than ever, people across the globe expect action on the ground towards securing the 1.5C goal, and adapting to the negative impacts of climate change through the implementation of the provisions of the Paris Agreement, updating NDCs and fulfilling the broad array of pledges and commitments made in Glasgow by Governments and other entities. This effort will not bear fruit unless global concerted action is taken at all levels and by all actors. COP27 will be the right moment to seize the opportunity and further turn the climate challenge into an opportunity for sustainable development and economic prosperity through investing in a green future for people and planet.
